Q25 Do you have any further comments?

There are currently no known breed specific health or welfare concerns. As a breed club we remain reliant upon owners/breeders coming forward with information so we are able to monitor health and welfare matters. To support the reporting procedure we have introduced a health reporting form and a dedicated email address. The form was sent out to members with the summer newsletter 2019 and will be available via the club website in the near future. We continue to provide general health information to our membership and the wider Fauve owning public.
